

The collapse of Starblvds... anyone know the facts?

Friday, 10 February 2006

Every Starblvd board is down and has been for a week. Even their main sites and addresses at Starblvds/net. I did get a Chinese version on Starblvds/com but that was only once and it's down now too. Is it anything to do with Taiwan being close to China? Is there something sinister here? Has the company folded? We are so lucky that our new site with its alternative message boards was just about ready to come online. It appears we've attracted all our regulars back and then some - many thousands more, in fact. But I wonder what happened. Are they returning? How about those whose businesses depend on them? Anyone with information or even informed guesses - do let us know. Â