

I Was Born Kenneth King from Anticlone - JK

Thursday, 05 October 2006

This is one of the basic tracks recorded in the 90's for my Anticlone project.

This was a game I played - taking the same backing track, I wrote a series of songs to it with different lyrics and melodies, the only rule being that each title had to include a NAME.

They could all be mixed differently, slowed down or speeded up (changing the key), and all had to stand up in their own right.

It was great fun to do. You can buy the entire collection through www.wedontdosingles.com!