

Another blow for the False Allegations Industry

Tuesday, 26 July 2016

11 years ago now, I started my crusade against the False Allegations Industry and soon found an ally in FACT - the organisation formed for Carers and Teachers.

Already, by then, that was a serious problem, ruining lives and careers but also seriously damaging the profession (what person with sense would now become a teacher - or priest, vicar, foster parent, doctor - it really starts to look as though all the important jobs in humanity are being targeted by Satan).

Check out this latest case.
