

Malfeasance, misfeasance, nonfeasance in public office

Tuesday, 28 March 2017

As regulars to KingOfHits will know, I tend to be way ahead of the rest of the world in many things - Genesis, Bay City Rollers, so many acts were started by me but only broke globally years later.

Likewise 17 years ago I was an early victim of the False Allegations Industry.

Now, slowly, society is realising there are far, far more false accusers than there are genuinely abused.

More and more liars are being jailed for longer and longer.

But there hasn't yet been a serious clampdown on malfeasance in public office, let alone misfeasance (not illegal) or nonfeasance (due to incompetence).

The murder of Breck Bednar concluded in jail for his killer but no real punishment for those who, by negligence, caused his death. A clear case of nonfeasance.

Every night, in sleep, I get messages. "Get them, JK".

Please watch Murder Games, one of the most upsetting yet effective TV shows ever made.
