Baby You've Been On My Mind

This was me under the Latin name for Nobody or No One - NEMO.
I thought it was a nice interpretation of the Dylan song.

It suits my voice and the Jew's Harp is unusual (or was at the time)... the poor guy playing it almost cut his mouth to shreds and it was hell to record!

I love this song. But then I love most of Dylan's work during his early creative period.

It didn't sell but I liked the people at EMI and as a result gave them The Sun Has Got His Hat On when I was having more hits.
They didn't break that either!
