

Xmas single 2008 - Riding A Reindeer

Sunday, 26 August 2007

For Xmas 2008, the music world has changed.

So I'm releasing my Christmas Single in August. It's now available for purchase and download on iTunes and I hope it will build interest and sales over the next few months.

It's a true story (embellished) that I heard on holiday about a strange little old lady who came to Agadir, Morocco every season and left in the New Year, having quietly and anonymously donated a large sum of money to various impoverished families she noticed during her visit.

A kind of female Father Christmas from snowy Scandinavia.

This is not your usual Christmas song (apart from anything else, it includes CRAP in the lyric).

If you like it, sample the video on You Tube...
